

Puppet Master Defeated

The eccentric puppeteer Henson Vogel returned mid-October along with his life-size animated puppets. This time, however, the puppets attacked the town, even turning some hapless citizens into soldiers under Henson's control.

After a long and harrowing battle, and through quick thinking and teamwork, the town was able to dispatch the puppets and return the possessed folk back to normal. The townsfolk figured out that it was not Henson in control, but rather Mr. Peepers, Henson's hand puppet. Mr. Peepers was promptly destroyed, breaking his hold on Henson and ending the reign of puppet terror on the town.

Since the dolls that were bound to the backroom of the tavern were taken by many of the townsfolk, perhaps some of Mr. Peeper's evil magic survives. For our sake, we hope not.

Pumpkins Judged By Scarecrow

In celebration of Soul's Night, local citizens gathered around the tavern to carve pumpkins into jack-o-lanterns. An ancient spirit in the guise of a scarecrow came to judge the gourds and placed a magical enchantment on the winners. The enchantment was reported to keep spirits away.

Rat Plague Cured

Local heroes banded together and attacked the rat plague at its heart. A cave, found by the Plague-bearers, held a monstrous army of giant rats, including a rat king. It was discovered that the crown on the rat king was a cursed magic item and the cause of the disease. The crown is now in the hands of experts that deal with cursed objects.

Banshee

Out of the mists late at night, a banshee appeared in town, accompanied by a band of orcs. Unlike most orcs, these orcs wore no armor; instead they had black leather hoods. They appeared to be worshipping the spirit. The banshee seemed to be targeting women, and dissipated as soon as it took a female life. This mysterious cult of orcs are believed to be what causes the screaming that is often heard at night.

A Boy and His Spiders

Giant spiders were spotted lurking in the woods outside of Thaydon's Rest. A dog-man hybrid seemed to have control of them. They attacked the town mercilessly and almost succeeded in wiping the brave townsfolk out. These local heroes were able to defeat the spiders after a desperate battle. The hybrid, who called himself Boy, was determined to be a servant of the witch Mumbaga.

Haunted Alchemy Guild

Four restless spirits were found haunting the Alchemy Guild. Local healers were able to communicate with these spirits and discern what kept them trapped in our realm. The four spirits were put to rest and the guild hall is now once again safe to use.

Lake Monster Attack

The deadly yet elusive creature in the lake has taken a second victim. At this time, it is unknown what the creature is. Local authorities advise citizens to avoid the lake.

Sister Whitehall Excommunicated

Sister Whitehall has been removed from her position in the Temple of Light in Thaydon's Rest. The Templars of Purity have taken over control of the temple. They have brought much needed supplies to the town. The reasons for her excommunication have not been verified at this time.

Goblin Army Still At Large

The Gho-Mal Raiders, a mercenary tribe of goblins hired by the renegade provinces, are still in the area and have been attacking settlements. They have disrupted local trade routes and have seized local arms. The goblin General Tog'rok is rumored to have been trained by Nachtjager.

These raiders are extremely dangerous. Avoid them if you can, but be prepared to fight for your life if you can't.

Town Expansion

Our most generous King Waker has granted the town of Thaydon's Rest a Royal Grant. This money will be used to expand the town and improve on its existing buildings.

"I'm happy the King has seen my leadership for what it is. This money will definitely help my town," states Lord Steward Vargin Seaclaw.

Construction began back in October and is estimated to be completed by this coming spring.

Obviously, King Waker sees Thaydon's Rest as a valuable asset to the Kingdom, and the improvements will be welcomed by the growing town as it becomes more prosperous.

Citizens of Thaydon's rest, I am writing again with an update on my progress removing the seed of chaos within my soul.

After consulting with the clerics of the Temple of Light and the Mages Guild, we have begun to work towards a ritual that will (hopefully) purify my soul.

We will require one of each elemental crystal (except onyx) as well as a variety of alchemical herbs and reagents.

If you can aid me in gathering these, please come speak to me as quickly as possible. As with before, I have scarcely enough coin to see myself fed, but I would be happy to repay you in any other way I can. My thanks.

Tread lightly.

Maheegan.

Sorcerers Guild?

Tired of people in funny hats telling you what to do? Ever wish you were a useful member of society? Well, there is rumor going around that a Sorcerers Guild is forming.

Considering how much battle magic we have seen in the last few gatherings, I hope it's true. Magic users casting spells instead of looting corpses would be a nice change.

Also, with the druids forming a town sponsored guild, this rumor may have validation. What will this mean for the Mages Guild? More importantly, what will this mean for the future of the town?

Druids Guild

I am Rook. The Druids Guild is now official. Steward says so and we seek all druids and those with Nature magics to join. We need to make permanent Nature Circle and altar in our woods. Any nature components we can all scrape together for this would help.

We will have meetings every moon. Lots to go over. Rook will post in tavern any more things you need know.

See you all soon and hope you don't die.

NPCs!

As always, we are looking for NPC volunteers – those tireless and over worked (but awesome) guys and gals who help us make Kyranthia come to life!

If you know anyone who would have fun entertaining players with fighting, roleplaying, and general mischief-making of all kinds, send 'em our way.

You'll get 2.5 SP for bringing them, provided they stay most of the event and register on our website. NPCs get free food and drinks, and access to our plethora of costumes and weapons for the event.

You also get 5 Skill Points for your character. And the satisfaction of beating up, er, entertaining the players! Oh, and they can win cash!

Kyranthia Communications and You

Don't miss out on Kyranthia news and announcements!

Make sure you periodically check our Official Facebook page for any valuable information you may have missed.

Also, get involved! If we post an event, make sure you join it and say a little something. Spread the excitement and invite people you think may enjoy our events. Feel free to ask us questions and make comments. We love hearing from you guys.

Make some in-game posts on the forum; it's a good way to get involved in-between events. Post your pictures and tag yourself. Tell us stories about your adventures. Some players even send us in-game journal entries from their characters.

And don't forget to send in your Event Report Cards within two weeks after an event. You'll get 3 Skill Points and our gratitude. It's also a good opportunity to let us know what's going on with your character.
