

Lich Attacks Thaydon's Rest

Last March, an army of undead gated into the high tower Steadrock and attacked those inside. They killed indiscriminately until they retrieved the phylactery of Lord Vroktis, the lich who had previously terrorized Valdarin's Gate.

When asked about the attacks, High Wizard T'char had this to say: "It was an unprecedented coup de main, both in terms of its ferocity and alacrity. It was over nearly as quickly as it began. High Wizards going about the business of study were caught unaware and lost approximately 14% of their population."

Lord Vroktis arrived at Thaydon's Rest on the night of May 19th with an army of the undead, demanding a magical sword. When the citizen's refused, his forces attacked. The undead seem to be strengthened by the lich, making them faster and smarter, and even being able to be out during the day.

Local Druids Speak To Treant

Several members of the local druid circle were approached by a witch doctor, a goblin named Grinth of the Whispering Moon tribe. He told of a satyr that was wandering in the nearby woods. Since satyrs tend to consort with other forest creatures, he led them to a treant elder named Hemlock.

The druids spoke with Hemlock and gained some valuable information that may help with the fight against the evil witch Mumbaga.

Shadow Binder Executed By Templars of Purity

A shadow binder was arrested by the town guard on the night of Friday, May 19th. The shadow-sworn placed a chaos orb in the temple, where it still resides. The orb's purpose is unknown, but it radiates chaos magic and harms any who touch it.

The Templars of Purity (who have taken over the Temples of Light after the closing of Citadel U'Dundeil by Lord Protector Varin Krecksin) took the shadow binder into custody and give him a trial. Upon receiving a guilty verdict, town officials and some local citizens traveled to the Temple of Light to see the sentencing carried out.

The templars bestowed a final death to the shadow binder, stating that any other servants of shadow would receive similar punishment.

Goddess Freed?

The local mages spectated as High Wizard T'char conducted a ritual upon a magical statue on the night of May 19th.

The ritual, known as the 'Ritual of Greater Chaos Dispelling' was able to break the statue open, releasing what people are saying is a goddess that was trapped inside by her brother, the Shadow Lord Nil'Gadol.

The "goddess" Lyanna is reported to be the goddess of magic, and one of many "old gods" that were sealed away. There is no proof that this Lyanna is or isn't a goddess, but there are many that claim she is.

Greetings, Thaydon's Rest.

The Adventurers League has received an official charter granting it first pick of any jobs that come through town. Most of these jobs will be dangerous and likely (though not always) involve bloodshed.

So if you are bold and seek to make a name for yourself in Thaydon's Rest, or simply want to make some money, I encourage you to enter the Adventurers League.

All are welcome, from warriors to druids, regardless of other affiliations. The league will be having a meeting on the night of Friday, September 15th in the tavern at 11:30. Best of luck to you all.

Heroes Destroy Undead Nest

A nest of foul undead and lesser vampires was discovered in the catacombs deep beneath Thaydon's Rest.

The Lord Steward Vargin Seaclaw decided something must be done, and promptly dispatched Constable Vallon, Red, Avi, Mercutio, Linus, and the Lovellians to delve into the dangerous crypts.

The group strategically and heroically fought numerous creatures, hoping to dwindle the lich's forces.

They emerged victorious, having struck a grievous blow to the forces of Lord Vroktis.

Citizens Promoted

Hear ye, Hear ye! The town of Thaydon's Rest welcomes several newly appointed officials to their growing community.

The Lord Steward Seaclaw has recommended the following:

By way of His Majesty King Waker, Vallon Cromwell has been given the title of Constable, Rakoos Pyndarus has been appointed Magistrate, Linus the Chocolatier is now the Town Crier, Oli Lovell is Headmaster of the local orphanage and Director of the Arts, and Fiddle Faddle is now Junior Captain of the town guard.

Beastmen Attacks Intensify

The beastmen that live in the surrounding forest have been relentlessly attacking local townships. The beastmen are more agitated than usual, and some even seem to be mutating. There are also rumors of them turning others into beastmen.

More information will be given when available.

Baby Kidnapped

A goblin baby was kidnapped from the Temple of Light on the night of May 20th. The child was left at the temple last moon as a ward, but suddenly went missing.

The orphanage was able to recover the child from some underlings and a goblin, all claiming to be the rightful parents. The infant has since been returned and is now under the custody of the Templars of Purity.

Orphanage Opens

Thaydon's Rest welcomes the Seaclaw and Lovell Orphanage. The bards of the Lovellian Music Hall have spent many moons performing to raise the funds needed to open the home for wayward children. The orphanage gives many children much needed housing, food, and love.

Werewolves Attack

Unfortunately, the rumors of werewolves lurking in the area seem to be true. Several citizens were attacked by the nefarious creatures, but the werewolves were quickly dispatched by the brave heroes.

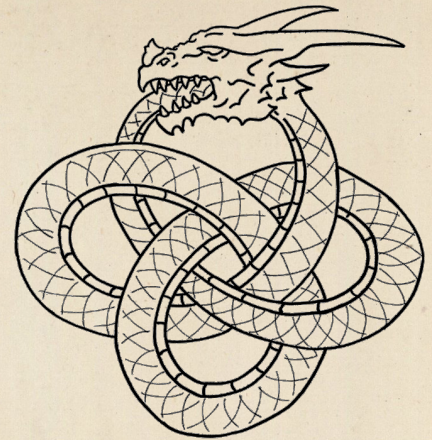

It is suspected that a large pack has taken up residence in the area. It is advised that the locals take caution when venturing through the woods, especially at night.

Greetings, citizens of Thaydon's Rest. I have acquired the list of things I need for my ritual; I am very close now. All I require is a ruby, a garnet, blood root, and black snake root. I fear the last two will be the most difficult to find, especially since there are others in town searching for the same Ingredients.

If you happen to find any of these or already have them in your possession, please consider speaking to me. I spent most of my remaining coin buying gems needed for my ritual, but may still be able to pay you or offer you some other service as payment.

My thanks, and tread lightly.
Maheegan.

Newly Appointed Lord Marshal

By Royal Proclamation of His Majesty Killian Waker, Lord Protector of Aegarius and King of Kyranthia, the Right Honourable Lord Ryn Dire, Baron of Direvale, has been appointed as the Lord Marshal of Aegarius.

The Lord Marshal took an oath to uphold the law and to quell the growing unrest and lawlessness of Aegarius.

Amid alarming concerns of shadow binders within the ranks of nobles and officials, Lord Marshal Dire is conducting new investigations throughout the province.

We here at the Aegarius Times have it on good authority that the new Lord Marshal will be visiting our area in the Fall.

A Word to the Wise: Chaos

Chaos is antithetical to life, existence, and all possibilities. Worse than any evil the mind can conjure.

It is not a balancing force, but one of discord. It serves but one master and should be unequivocally condemned.

Our world has barely known half a millennia of respite from the Shadowlord's terror. For some, this is within living memory.

This is not a matter of good or evil. The true nature of the conflict between Light and Chaos is that of existence and choice.

Pain, misery, and regret are all that will come from Chaos.

During this gathering, several citizens of Thaydon's Rest were observed, in the very heart of our settlement, communing with an Enthromancer. They were lead into the woods to attend The Calling, a nefarious ceremony of the Shadow Lord. These individuals were The Curator, Claudia, Mordecai and Maheegan.

Burn these names into your memory. Be wary of these people and those with whom they keep company.

Maheegan, though attempting to cleanse themselves, is seemingly still tempted by the false promises and superficial powers granted by Chaos.

We will continue our aid to rid them of this taint, but a close eye should be maintained.

Claudia, an admitted and proud wielder of Chaos. Until further notice, all spells cast by her, outside of those possible through the Path of Light, shall be perceived as a mimicked spell.

These occurrences should be reported immediately to authorities of Thaydon's Rest. Any teachings or additions to her spell book which would allow such spells to be cast lawfully, shall be reported to Guild Master T'char, Phoenix, or Mercutio.

These individuals are expected to inspect her book and report relevant updates to the Lord Magistrate, myself, or the Lord Steward.

Let it be clear. Let no Man, Elf, or Dwarf claim ignorance. Casting, worshiping, or the proliferation of Chaos, harboring those that do, and possessing items or artifacts empowered by Chaos will not be tolerated.

For those names previously stated, this is your warning. Continue your pursuit of the unholy and you will be met with a swift and righteous end.

Vallon Cromwell,
Constable of Thaydon's Rest

Hello Dear Reader,

I hope those that were able to attend our Second Breakfast enjoyed the feast we put before them. Your humble Feast Master Rosco was overjoyed to share a meal with all of you. There will be many more meals in the future that I hope to share with you. For those that are unable to make it, I present 'Cooking With the Cabbages'.

-Rosco Sweetleaf

Potatoes in a blanket.

1 lb of baby potatoes

1lb favorite bacon cut in half

2 TBS olive oil

1 tsp adobo

1 tsp freshly cracked black pepper

1 tsp granulated garlic

1 tsp salt

2 tsp smoked paprika

3 tsp maple syrup (or BBQ sauce)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees

Place foil over baking sheet and spray with cooking spray

Combine spices and olive oil into a large bowl and mix well.

Add potatoes to spice and oil mixture and stir well to coat.

Cut bacon in half

Wrap potatoes with bacon placing the "seam" side of the bacon on the cooking sheet.

Bake for 35 min

Remove from oven and brush with maple syrup or BBQ sauce

Bake again for 10 min.
